GENERAL INFORMATION

The safety and regulatory data provided in this RDS is based on our current knowledge and on supplier information that we have not independently verified. Due to the various possible applications and the application and working conditions beyond our control, this RDS may not be adequate to satisfy any requirements you may have under relevant laws and regulations applicable. Hence, the data provided herein does not release you from conducting your own risk assessment prior to any use in your production or before application of Henkel product. In particular, we do not assume any liability for the suitability of our products for the relevant production processes under the specific working conditions and the intended processing purposes and results. Henkel latest updated product information, including but not limited to technical and safety data sheets, should be consulted prior to use of Henkel products.
Henkel as a manufacturing company does not know the individual circumstances of our customer's imports and exports outside the EU and is therefore not in a position to assess any regulatory requirements including but not limited to import restrictions and/or corresponding obligations such as notification requirements et. Alt.

Any information provided whether a substance is not "intentionally introduced" means that this (these) substance(s) is (are) not intentionally added as additive(s) or used in the manufacturing process for the Henkel product. However, we cannot exclude that the substance(s) may be present as adventitious trace impurities (not intentionally added to the product). Such analyses for trace impurities in the products are not conducted as part of routine Henkel procedures.

The information in this document applies to our knowledge regarding the product as of the date it has left our premises. Henkel is not obliged to update any of this information.
